AND THEY CALL 'EM POLICE DOGS— By Kessler

Back Into Your Pocket

THE United States government is A PROSPEROUS BUSINESS.

Its treasury is stacked with more money than is necessary.

President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon wisely want to turn that excess back to the people who paid it in.

Piles of unneeded money create a desire to spend it.

Congressmen and others, anxious to make a hit with voters, cast longing eyes on every penny that isn't nailed down.

They KNOW how to use excess funds, NOT for the benefit of the people of the nation, but to create votes for their own re-election.

The safest way to eliminate that temptation is to remove its cause.

Instead of plunging with it into new expenditures the sensible, economic thing to do is to REFUND SURPLUS.

LET THE PEOPLE WHO PAY TAXES share the prosperity of the government. Let them share in proportion as they have paid.

That is not only good business, but it is common sense.

It is the basis of prosperity and expansion.

Every cent that can be paid back to carry on business means added prosperity for EVERY ONE IN THE NATION.

Restore the Constitution

MORE MONEY IS NEEDED to restore the Constitution.

Not the Constitution of the United States, but the ship Constitution of the United States navy.

EVERY patriotic American should give something to help preserve this aging vessel. She was one of the great heroes of the War of 1812.

She fought for and helped to win American liberty on sea.

Five hundred thousand dollars is needed to preserve her moldering planks and strengthen her weakened frame.

Putting half a million dollars worth of lumber and work into an old ship will leave not much of the original intact.

But the SPIRIT the gallant old ship symbolizes will be preserved. THAT will be an inspiration to Americans as long as liberty means anything in our land.

Vaccination Dangers

VACCINATION is a menace to life and health.

In spite of efforts of medical influences to suppress them, this truth is becoming more public every day.

The diary of an army aviator in Liberty Magazine contains this significant statement:—"I flew up to see him (a friend of the writer's) yesterday, and he sure was a funny sight. He's all swollen up like a poisoned pup, and is red as a beet and broken out all over—inside as well. The anti-tetanus serum was sour and poisoned him."

ALL SERUMS ARE POISON.

In civilian life when a serum victim "swells up like a poisoned pup" the doctor invents some fancy name for it. If the person dies the real cause of death is squelched.

When the public is fully aroused to the menace of injecting poisonous filth into clean human blood, doctors will be forced to stop their dangerous practice.

When they do, the health of our nation will reach new high levels of vitality.

Great Thoughts of Great Men

No past is dead for us, but only sleeping, Love.—Jackson.

The sweetest flowers in all the world—a baby's hands.—Swinburne.

The more things a man is ashamed of, the more respectable he is.—Shaw.

Delay always breeds danger.—Cervantes.

We Should Be Ready For Love

The importance of love cannot be over-emphasized And yet, how many people really prepare for it? We are supposed to take our chances.

Just go on your way, following the bent of your desires and emotions, and love will come to you in time, is the usual attitude.

And in spite of our neglect, most of us land safely in the field of a satisfying romance.

But, unfortunately, the happiness associated therewith is frequently fleeting in nature.

Sometimes our adventure in love ends in the divorce court.

But love, marriage, home and children represent life's most precious possessions.

They furnish the sacred ties that help to make the human soul immortal.

Therefore, when one properly prepares for love, all of life's most divine gifts come to us naturally.

Preparation for a love-life should be a serious business.

The boy should be taught the exalted nature of fatherhood and all it means to him during his life.

A girl should be taught the soul-satisfying joys of motherhood, and she should be made to realize that her mental and physical characteristics will pass on to her child. If she is frail and uncomely in a physical way, her children will inherit these defects.

But what girl gives any consideration to these important matters?

To her they seem vague and indistinct, far away in the future.

But after complete maturity, at any time she may have to face all of these serious responsibilities.

The query, "Is she prepared?" therefore, is tremendously important.

Love is not so fleeting and frothy as many people think.

It furnishes the incentive that leads to the most serious phases of life.

But if you are properly prepared to accept love in the first instance you should be able to assume all the responsibilities that follow.

THE PEOPLE'S MAN

To the Editor of The GRAPHIC:—

With a thrill of pleasure I read in The GRAPHIC that Al Smith has been re-elected to his place as governor of New York, where we hope he will stay for a long-time to come. Our state government needs just such a man, with such qualities as Al possesses. He is a staunch advocate of the slogan that Theodore Roosevelt always followed: "We must be Americans and nothing but Americans." Al is a tender and truthful friend to the poor population, from which he himself has sprung. One could tell by a look at his open, honest face and clean countenance that his ideals are purely American ones; that he is the one man who really ought to occupy the seat as governor of our state and that he is and always will be "the people's man!"

DEATH NOT PUNISHMENT

To the Editor of The GRAPHIC:—

I just want to say this:— No true spiritualist is rejoicing over the death of Harry Houdini. He did more real good than harm for the cause of true spiritualism.

Mediums who predicted that the spirit guides were going to take him over, or in any way punish him, are in error.

Mr. Houdini has not been punished. He completed his work and received God's greatest blessing, entrance into the spirit world, from which I earnestly hope he will be enabled to return and continue to do from that side of life the good work that he did while here.

ASKS FOR CORRECTION

To the Editor of The GRAPHIC:—

Would James Dare, writer of the article "Broadway Beauties War for Supremacy," kindly retract his statement in calling Dorothy Knapp "Miss America" of the Atlantic City pageant held in 1922? This is an error. If I am not mistaken, she won the title of "the most beautiful girl in the world" and is at present starring in Earl Carroll's "Vanities" under that distinction.
